

Eagle Cool Roof Tile

Eagle's CRRC Rated Products Result in Energy Savings

Eagle Roofing Products has Cool Roof Rated tile products available for your next project. Cool Roof Rated products can not only help you meet code requirements, they also provide superior benefits for your homeowners and the environment. Offer your homeowners 10-30% savings on their energy bill as well as possible additional rebates through their utility company. Beyond this tangible monetary benefit, Cool Roof Rated products are also kind to the environment. They help to reduce heat islands, reduce the dissemination of smog producing chemicals and reduce the production of CO₂. See below for specific rebate information.

Note: The above rebate program is subject to change, and may be subject to additional requirements such as geographic location/climate zone, presence of a central air conditioning system, and other requirements. Homeowners and/or roofers are responsible for filing all necessary paperwork and dealing with the utility to receive rebates. Rebates are not guaranteed by Eagle Roofing Products. One square is 100 square feet. Rebate programs may be calculated either by square foot of roofing material or square foot of conditioned space, depending on each utility's program details. This rebate summary is provided only as a resource for roofers and homeowners. Should you have any questions about these programs, please contact your utility by phone or by visiting the website above. May be subject to inspection. Rebate programs are available on a first come, first serve basis and may expire without notice.
